

(10:13 AM)

About to flip the fuck out

For literally the past hour and 10 minutes my dream has been nothing but getting up and going to my laptop to write down the lyrics from the non-existent anime that was in my dream

Over and over and over again I dreamed that I was getting out of bed going out to the living room opening my laptop and starting to type these things and then I would wake up partially and find myself back in bed.

This went on like 20 fucking times and I'm just pissed off now

(10:43 AM)

Before I rage out completely someone please tell me how to write this [see audio file: "the repeating melody"] in music symbols.

(Addition at 2:36 PM: this is the melody(???) that was repeating behind the song along with other music. it was upbeat and cheerful.)

(10:48 AM)

to add insult to injury also in my dream my mom finally fucking decided trans people do exist.....but only binary trans people. So she started inexplicably calling me he/him and made up some random fucking guy's name to call me. So for like a solid five minutes we thought she was talking about some random person because we were on the phone and then she's like oh no I mean you of course!!!

and now my laptop is being so slow I want to throw it through a window.

(11:11 AM)

so yeah after the absolute bullshit of that dream I no longer remember the lyrics to the nonexistent anime's opening theme in my dream besides the first not even full line which was something along the lines of:

-Your world is made of gold (100% accurate)

-And it's crumbling down (not accurate) Might also be "falling down"

-to wash over you (not accurate). might also be "to bite you" or "to hit you" and some random line in the middle somewhere at the end of a stanza:

don't let it divide you on the bite (not accurate). Definitely ended with "on the bite". Divided is not the word that was used. It was saying don't let (something) make you all fight over the meaning of the bite.

"The bite" part was seemingly fucking random, whatever sentence was actually there, "the bite" was replacing a more normal word.
IDK

the lyrics were an English translation of the original Japanese and not translated very well.

I remembered so many more of the fucking lyrics before the bullshit “haha you think you’re awake but actually you’re asleep” X20 started.

the first episode of the anime brought us in at ground level to a big busy city (possibly Tokyo? but like. with America’s bullshit stroads) where traffic was stopped completely for as far as the eye could see, and the person in the car whose shoulder we were temporarily watching over was swearing and getting mad at people they’d just almost run over, because traffic had been stopped for so long people in Taxis were getting out to walk.

Traffic was stopped because at the giant intersection like, 5 miles ahead, because our protagonist(???) was a bus driver who’d just had a heart attack (or maybe a “your werewolf transformation is nigh” attack) and was unconscious. It was a big bus that you had to have a specialized license to operate it – even if it was backing up traffic for literal miles. So everyone was stopped while the paramedics got the protagonist into an ambulance (I...think they were planning to drive out on the sidewalk) and could find someone else liscenced to move the bus.

People all around in the first few rows of cars were trading rumors through their windows. a bunch of people were convinced the bus driver was dead, others were insisting he’d been drunk, and ect.

sigh. I really wanted to write down those fucking lyrics.

Edit: I probably won’t do much with this story idea, but anyone who wants to can use this as a writing prompt! And jury-rig the rest of the song into existence if you want.

(11:13 AM)

also in the dream Walks put a giant pepper tree in the bathroom so when I was actually awake and walked in to get in the shower I was fucking baffled to not see it.

(1:11 PM)

anyways. throwing the old man from my dream who ruined me remembering the lyrics of the song by randomly talking about Japanese beetles into the sun.

(2:35 PM)

just the lyrics without commentary. They're public domain because I said so.

Your world is made of gold and it's crumbling down to wash over you

?

?

don't let it divide you on the bite

there were more stanzas at the end and between these two. It was very long.